

Heart Healing

By Melvin Lopp, October, 2010

This may not be a greatest miracle that ever took place, but it sure saved having surgery.

I went in to get the Adenosine Nuclear Study: Radioactive isotope and EKG. Then a couple days later the doctor call me and said that I had a problem either with the old blockage from thirteen years ago and maybe more problems and said he wanted me to go into the hospital for the angiogram, which would give them more precise information. I reported to the church about this and the church prayed for me. I did go into the hospital like the doctor said and afterwards he said that everything was alright, which don't need to stay overnight to have repair done the next day.
